

NIGHT ON THE SUN

A destination for the curious

Opening late spring 2026

Cairo, NY

Overview

Night on the Sun is a new retail and gallery destination opening in Cairo, New York in late spring 2026. Uniting the vitality of a garden store, the intention of a gallery, and the wonder of a museum, Night on the Sun offers a carefully curated collection of objects for interiors, gardens, and the spaces in between. Rooted in craft, curiosity, and discovery, it is a place where objects are not simply bought, but found.

Founded by the team behind Hort & Pott, Night on the Sun represents a natural evolution—an expansion of a deeply personal studio practice into a broader curatorial world.

The Story

Night on the Sun was born from a long-held desire to create a physical space devoted to discovery. After years of working through Hort & Pott—building a studio practice grounded in seasonality, material exploration, and handmade process—founders, Todd Carr and Carter Harrington, found themselves drawn toward something larger: a place that could hold not only their own work, but a wider constellation of objects, makers, and ideas.

As the vision expanded to include larger-scale works, collaborative pieces, and a more immersive retail experience, it became clear that this next chapter required its own identity. Night on the Sun was created to hold that expansion—adjacent in spirit to Hort & Pott, yet distinct in purpose.

More than a storefront, Night on the Sun is an invitation to slow down, look closer, and engage with objects that carry presence, history, and intention.

The Concept

Night on the Sun is a hybrid space: part garden store, part gallery, part retail destination. The assortment spans furnishings, sculpture, botanicals, and rare objects chosen not for trend or spectacle, but for their ability to endure—pieces shaped by hand, time, and imagination.

The experience is designed to feel discovered rather than transactional. Displays evoke excavation sites and hidden chambers, where objects appear unearthed and quietly revealed. Short texts and subtle narratives offer context without explanation, allowing visitors to form their own connections.

The result is a space that bridges the everyday and the extraordinary—distinctive, yet approachable; considered, yet alive.

Design & Atmosphere

The interior of Night on the Sun is immersive and atmospheric, shaped by texture, shadow, and materiality. A restrained palette—anchored by sandy papyrus tones, deep charcoal, and red—creates a backdrop for objects to stand with quiet authority.

The space is informed by elemental references and a sense of ritual rather than literal storytelling. Ancient and contemporary influences coexist, creating an environment that feels timeless, grounded, and open-ended. Visitors are encouraged to linger, explore, and encounter objects at their own pace.

Founders

Night on the Sun was founded by Carter Harrington (CEO) and Todd Carr (Creative Director), the duo behind Hort & Pott. Together, they have built a practice rooted in craft, material curiosity, and a deep respect for process.

Where Hort & Pott remains a deeply personal studio expression, Night on the Sun allows the founders' vision to expand beyond a single voice—becoming a collaborative platform for discovery, dialogue, and growth.

Why Night on the Sun

In a landscape saturated with mass-produced goods and fleeting trends, Night on the Sun offers an alternative. It is a response to a growing desire for objects with soul—pieces that feel storied, intentional, and quietly powerful.

Night on the Sun exists to help people tell their own stories through the objects they choose to live with. It is a place for the cultivated and the curious, for those drawn to beauty, intrigue, and the thrill of the rare find.
